National Health Insurance Tax

If you have National Health Insurance, you must pay National Health Insurance Tax.

The tax is used to cover medical expenses for those who have National Health Insurance.

Every insured person is requested to pay their premium by the specified due date.

If you are delinquent in payment of your insurance premiums, any of the things mentioned below may happen.

・Your premium may go up.

・Your employer may be notified of your past-due payment.

・Your past-due payment may be withdrawn from your bank account.